Help for a vaccine surge

With Android Enterprise, we've set ourselves up to scale as we see an increased demand for vaccines and offerings like VaxCare. We've been able to quickly bring online support for our partners in the public phase of the COVID-19 vaccine rollout. We've optimized our platform to assist any of our providers who enroll in a public vaccination program to manage inventory, record-keeping and billing.

As we continue our mission of helping the healthcare community more simply deliver vaccines, we're confident that Android and Social Mobile's custom solutions will continue to be a major component of our hardware and software strategy to support the healthcare community.
